

30.06.2022

Covid-19: Statement by the program committee

International Symposium on “Sex & Gender in Organ Transplantation: The female Perspective”

We are taking all developments concerning the coronavirus (Covid-19) very seriously. We are in close contact with the responsible health authorities, the program committee, our partner and sponsor VolkswagenStiftung.

Developments in Europe and Germany, however, reveal that the situation can change from day to day. In this regard, we will continue to monitor and discuss the situation intensively – with the aim of re-evaluating the situation together with the health authorities and the program committee in mid-September.

Irrespective of this, we will ensure the highest possible degree of hygiene, safety and medical care at the symposium. The health and safety of all employees and participants has the highest priority during our symposium. We will provide masks as well as possibilities for hand-disinfection. All participants are expected to be vaccinated, recovered from Covid-19 or tested.

Your contact for further information:

Thorsten Saenger

Tel.: +49 511 532-7806

E-mail: diversityintransplantation@mh-hannover.de